Wake up Your Writing

Yawn! The paragraph below is sleepy. Some words are tired and overused.

> Tad's first day of school BEGAN with a mess. While he ATE a BORING breakfast of toast, he spilled his orange juice. It went all over the floor. His mom got ANGRY. It was a BAD start for the first day of school! Then his BOSSY big sister, Beth, asked him to stay away from her at school. Tad felt she was ASHAMED of him. Tad stayed CALM. He BRAVELY got on the bus. Tad imagined that he was Superman and that he was not AFRAID. He FOUND his best friend. Soon they ARRIVED at school to start third grade.

1. The words in big capital letters are weary words. Rewrite the paragraph using different ones.

2. Add two adjectives (describing words) before the word "bus" in the paragraph.

Say, what!?!? You were excited to be in the fourth grade, but crazy things are happening at school. What the heck is going on?

Something crazy is going on at school. Draw it.

Surely you can come up with a better title than a silly robot!

Write your own short and descriptive title: _____

_____

Remember what you wrote on draft #1? Now rewrite that story. Robot doesn't have a lot of paper. He only left you seven lines. Ooops, I'm talking too much and left you less space.

My Draft #2: _____

Wow! You finished a second draft. Great! Oh, wait. Did we forget something?

Ooops, we never really came up with an ending!   Write the ending:

> ### Is it Thursday? Quick. Do This!

Robot got an extra sheet of paper. Woo-hoo! You are so lucky!

Um. This is a final paper, so reread what you wrote. If it makes no sense, Robot will lose some of his nuts. Maybe even his bolts!

And I'm not kidding.   Robot dog is also going to be reading this. He gets scratchy when something does not make sense. Wait? He can read? Freaky!
